

SANTA CLAUS, as busy as he is this time of year, took time to listen to more than 900 children tell what they wanted for Christmas. The interviews took place at DeMuth Park Saturday, when the Palm

Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce made arrangements for Santa to spend a few hours in the Village. Four elves helped Santa hand out candy-filled Christmas stockings. (Desert Sun Photo)

Yes Kiddies, There Indeed Is a Santa, Just Wait and See

Listen kid, don't believe those wisecracks from the seventh grade—the smart guys who tell you Santa Claus is strictly from nowhere. What those squares don't know about Mr. Claus would cover the North Pole, but in case you've got any doubts, just wait 'til you hear from St. Nick himself.

A reliable source (we're not mentioning names, but the initials are Palm Springs Business Women's Club) reports that Santa is answering all Christmas mail stamped with a Palm Springs post mark.

OF COURSE, SINCE old man Christmas is too busy to keep up with his fanmail from hep young citizens, his correspondence is being handled by his special corps of secretaries.

You'll find Santa's answer in the shape of a bright green (or maybe red) page, suitably engraved, naturally. The message is strictly personal.

But by some strange coincidence, we just happen to have a few copies of letters written to Santa, and if you're the little girl who addressed the envelope to "Santa Claus," don't worry—he got it.

THE MAILMAN didn't have any trouble either with the letter addressed to "Mr. St. Nick (St. Claus), North Pole, Heaven." We can't tell you, though, whether you'll get the dolls, sewing machines, pogo sticks or the pony you asked for—that would sort of take the edge off the surprise.

But don't be disappointed if your order isn't filled—it's pretty hard to fit a pony into a desert home-size fireplace chimney.

Welfare Group Distributes Fifty Christmas Baskets

More than fifty Christmas baskets were given out this year by Welfare and Friendly Aid, a Community Chest agency, to families in the Palm Springs area. Mrs. Edith Fry, chairman, was assisted by her committee, Mrs. Earl Hough, vice chairman, Mrs. Mahlon Manson, and Joan Nickerson, secretary of Welfare.

Contributions from the Rotary Club, Women's Club, Kiwanis, Junior Chamber of Commerce and American Legion Auxiliary, and other civic organizations aided the Welfare Agency in this project.

Children's contributions from the cartoon show annually held at the Village Theater also go toward this fund. Earle C. Strebe donates the two hour show each year.

THE TOY PROJECT was started as early as January of this year, when the first toys were col-

Ike, Family Plan Quiet Celebration

WASHINGTON — President and Mrs. Eisenhower will spend a quiet Christmas Eve at the White House tonight and save most of their holiday celebration until their grandchildren arrive Tuesday afternoon.

The President went to his office as usual this morning. But no official callers were scheduled and he planned to return to the White House family quarters this afternoon.

PRESS SECRETARY James C. Haggerty said Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, will "spend a quiet evening at home tonight." He said there would be no guests, but that the three might open a few gifts.

Tuesday afternoon, the Eisenhowers' son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and their four children will join the first family to open presents around their Christmas tree at the White House.

THE GRANDCHILDREN, eight-year-old Dwight David, seven-year-old Barbara Anne, Susan Elaine who will be five Dec. 31, and Mary Jean who is just one, will have two Christmases, the White House press office said. The first one will be at their Ft. Belvoir, Va., home Christmas morning and the second with their grandparents.

The three older children have been practicing some Christmas carols to sing Tuesday afternoon. The first family will have a traditional Christmas feast of turkey and all the trimmings Tuesday evening.

Boy Loses Legs In Effort to Buy Mother Present

EVERETT, Wash. — When the ambulance driver laced him on the stretcher, nine-year-old Bobby Long pleaded: "Don't let my mommy see me like this."

Bobby was thinking of his mother when he got hurt. He was searching the freight yards for bottles to sell so he could buy her a Christmas present. He had collected 16 cents and was having good luck adding to the sum when the accident occurred Saturday afternoon.

Later in Providence Hospital, Bobby's dad, an electrician, brushed back a tear and said proudly, "He'll get along okay. That kid's got all the spunk in the world." Hospital attendants, echoing the father's words, said today Bobby was in fair condition and was holding his own.

After the story of Bobby's accident was told, contributions started coming in. It appeared this day before Christmas that Bobby would have enough money to buy his mother that present.

And maybe there would be enough left over to buy Bobby a pair of artificial legs to replace his own which were severed under the wheels of a switch engine.

Negroes Stop Bus Boycott In Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Negroes sat where they pleased on near empty city buses during early runs today in an attempt to integrate the long boycotted transit line without benefit of a court decree.

Police and city officials awaited the outcome of heavier travel later in the day before announcing whether they would challenge this second mass desegregation of a city bus line in the Deep South. The Tallahassee City Commission went into closed session early this morning, apparently to decide on what if any action to take.

THE REV. C. K. STEELE, local president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, boarded one bus and took a front seat. He was unchallenged by the driver or by police who witnessed the incident. There were no white riders on the bus when Steele came on.

First bus returning to midtown from runs into Negro residential areas brought in handfuls of Negroes sitting in the front, middle and rear sections. They had no white passengers, however.

The Negroes decided at a mass meeting Sunday night to end their five-month boycott and to try to ride as equals of whites on the basis of a court order ending bus segregation four days ago at Montgomery, Ala.

BUS TRAVEL WAS FAR below normal because 3,700 Florida A&M Negro students and more than 6,500 Florida State University white students were away for the holidays, along with many of the 5,000 or so state employees.

Tallahassee has a population of about 40,000.

Hungary Marks First Christmas Season Since 1948

BUDAPEST — A heavy fall of snow that blanketed the ruins of Budapest lent a holiday air today to the capital that is celebrating its first Western style Christmas since the Communists took over Hungary in 1948.

The Communist government lifted the curfew to permit Catholics to attend midnight mass. Santa Claus replaced the Russian "Father Frost" in the stores and there were religious displays of Christ in the manger and inscriptions of "peace on earth good will to men."

City, Tribal Council Start Meetings for Master Plan

Discussion of the general planning program for the City of Palm Springs was the chief topic at a meeting of city administrative personnel, the Aqua Caliente Tribal Council and its planning representative.

The program includes the development of a long term master plan for the entire city, and detailed study of the precise development of Section 14.

BOTH THE CITY and Tribal planning consultants believe joint effort furnishes the opportunity for the two governing bodies to "bring about the highest and most profitable type of development for the people of Palm Springs."

City Manager R. W. Peterson indicated that the city would accelerate its research and planning programs in order to permit the

Holiday Season Marred By Road Death Record

Chou to Visit Red Poland In January

Sidesteps Comment On Reasons For Warsaw Meeting

LONDON — Poland announced today that Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai will visit Warsaw immediately after he meets with top Communist leaders in Moscow early in January.

Chou announced in Karachi, Pakistan, that he was cutting short his Southeast Asian tour to rush back to Peiping for consultations before flying to Moscow.

In a news conference in Karachi, Chou side-stepped a question as to whether his forthcoming visit to Moscow had any direct connection with Southeast Asian views of Soviet intervention in Hungary. He said the question was "a very complicated one."

CHOU ALSO REFERRED to the subject of the 10 Americans still held by Communist China. He said their release was being held up because the United States failed "to keep her side of the bargain."

He charged there were many Chinese in American jails, and that the United States had "released only one and he was a mental case."

Chou's remarks apparently dashed hopes for an early release of the Americans.

CHOU'S IMPENDING visit to Poland was announced both by Radio Peiping and the Polish government.

A Chinese Communist Foreign Office communique broadcast by the Peiping Radio said the Warsaw government invited Chou "in order to strengthen further the friendship and the fraternal co-operation" between the two countries.

The Polish government news agency announced the Red Chinese leader would arrive here "in the middle of January."

Barefoot Boy Rifles School, Surprised in Act

Police are looking today for a barefoot juvenile who was almost caught in the act of rifling desks at the Junior High School.

Warren Linville, principal at the school, had spent Saturday morning at his desk in the school office, and on returning from lunch found drawers pulled open and papers scattered about. He notified police.

On investigation police believe that Linville had surprised the thief, who had fled out a back window. Police could track the culprit from under the back window, across the Polo Grounds area, and into Section 14 where they lost the trail. The person who had entered the building left barefootprints, and tracks were visible where he was joined by another person who wore a small shoe.

The school had just taken up a collection for pictures, according to the principal.

IT'S THE NIGHT BEFORE Christmas, and high, high up there, Santa is coming to all children. Eighteen-month-old Nikki Maff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Maff of 970 Pasco Dorotea, points in wonderment toward the Christmas Star, from which direction she is sure Ol' St. Nick, aboard his sleigh filled with toys, will arrive. ## Hungary's Fight for Freedom Called Mortal Blow to Reds

WASHINGTON — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today Hungary's fight for freedom has handed international Communism "a mortal blow from which it cannot recover."

Nixon made the statement to reporters at Washington National Airport on his return from Austria where he personally inspected the plight of Hungarian refugees. He returned convinced that America "must do more" to help the refugees.

Mrs. Nixon and her two daughters were on hand to give him a joyous Christmas Eve "welcome home."

"WE HEAR A GREAT deal of talk today to the effect that the Hungarian refugees pose a difficult problem for the United States and the Free World," Nixon said in his prepared arrival statement.

"I am convinced, as a result of a first hand study of the situation that the courageous peoples who fought for freedom in Hungary should be considered a problem only to the Soviet Union."

"AS A RESULT of their sacrifice, international Communism has suffered a mortal blow from which it cannot recover. It has been exposed as a gigantic failure. For 10 years the Communists had complete control of Hungary. They concentrated their efforts on the intellectuals, students and the workers. However, it was these three groups who led the revolt against them."

Nixon said he will make specific recommendations to President Eisenhower before Jan. 1 on ways in which the United States can do its "full share" in helping the refugees from Hungary find new homes.

NIXON IS EXPECTED to recommend that the United States sharply increase its present quota of admitting 21,500 refugees to America.

Nixon was met at the airport by a delegation of top government officials. But he reserved his biggest smile for his wife, Pat, and his two daughters, who burst through the crowd to greet him a few minutes after he stepped off the plane.

Five Die in Fire As Train Delays Fire Fighters

MERIDEN, Conn. — A tenement fire snuffed out the lives of five members of a family late Sunday night while firemen were delayed by a train.

The general alarm blaze sent four other members of the family to a hospital where one was listed in critical condition.

Two hundred persons were evacuated from an adjoining theater.

Dead were Mrs. Eulalia Rios, 39, and her children Gladys, 17, Eddie, 3, Eddie Nelson, 4, and Isabelle, 6. A medical examiner said all five suffocated.

Hospitalized in poor condition was Edward, 5.

The father, Luis, 41, another son Jose, 19, and a brother of Mrs. Rios, Alberto Morales, 23, were listed in "fairly good" condition.

THE WEATHER

Desert area forecast: Generally clear through Tuesday. Gusty northerly winds becoming locally strong at times late today through Tuesday, especially in the Colorado River Valley. Not much temperature change. High today 55-65 in upper valleys, 65-75 in lower valleys.

Saturday's high was 68 and low was 35; Sunday's high was 65 and low was 32.

Toll to Run Far Ahead of 660 Forecast

One Person Killed Every Ten Minutes

By UNITED PRESS The death toll on the nation's highways soared past the 400 mark today and climbed toward a new Christmas holiday record.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Nations Safety Council, said the toll was running ahead of estimates and it was "increasingly evident" the council's forecast of 660 dead would be exceeded.

A United Press survey at 8 a. m. PST showed 422 persons killed in traffic. Another 25 were killed in fires, 7 died in plane crashes and 56 died in miscellaneous mishaps, for an overall accident death toll of 510.

TRAFFIC DEATHS occurred on an average of one every 10 minutes.

California continued to show the worst highway safety record, with 47 deaths. Illinois followed with 33, and Texas was third with 27.

Three teen-agers were killed in a train-auto collision near Louisville, Ky., Sunday night. The car smashed into the side of a locomotive, was dragged 100 feet and hurled into a ditch.

DEARBORN APPEALED to motorists for a "drastic improvement" in their driving habits. Dearborn said the words, "speeding, has been drinking" are recurring again, and again in the mounting reports of accidents in all parts of the nation.

"Is it asking too much of every decent person to take a pledge to deliberately slow down in traffic during this Christmas season and not take the wheel if he has been drinking?" he asked. Dearborn said the toll could be cut in half if motorists exercised a bit of "courtesy, thoughtfulness and consideration."

Snags Develop In Clearing of Suez Canal Area

PORT SAID — New snags developed today in United Nations efforts to begin clearing the Suez Canal.

Li Gen, Raymond A. Wheeler, the U.N. salvage chief, had hoped to begin actual clearance today but was faced with Egyptian refusal to accept British salvage crews.

Wheeler, after conferences with Egyptian officials, ordered one group of salvage vessels today to El Qantara through a passage already cleared by Anglo-French salvage workers.

But actual work appeared to depend on further negotiations with Col. Mahmoud Younes, head of the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority, and Tewfik El-Dib, director of the Suez Canal Authority in Port Said. United Nations sources said Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld remained in close touch with the situation. He stayed at his office all day Sunday in hopes of straightening out the snag over use of the British salvage vessels.

Yucca Valley To Have New Development

A. E. "Art" Miller, Omaha, Nebraska, Pontiac dealer, and Luther H. Colvin, announced this week through the office of Charles S. Watkins, Yucca Valley realtor, plans for a major residential development in the Hi-Desert Community.

Miller, who purchased several sections of property in Yucca Valley this year through Colvin of the Watkins office, is well known to Southern California horse circles as the owner of Peavine's Golden Major, Jr., champion Palamino show horse.

The development involves hill-side view property and will be subdivided into estate-size homesites with high restrictions, overlooking the entire Yucca Valley area.

It is planned to have the first units ready about the first of April, 1957, and will consist of approximately 150 estates running from about three-eighths of an acre to 1.5 acres in size.

Charles S. Watkins and Associates have been appointed exclusive sales agents for the property, with Colvin in charge.

Area CHP Plans Crackdown on Drunk Drivers

Drunk drivers in the Indio area will be the special target of the California Highway Patrol and the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control during the coming holiday season.

"The drive to curtail drunk driving will reach its December maximum during the holidays. The enforcement efforts of the Indio Area office of the Patrol will be set to match the needs," declared Captain Blohm of the local Patrol office.

"The throttle and the bottle are deadly combinations and the driver who drinks and drives can expect injury or death in an accident unless an enforcement officer stops him before the accident happens."

"Let us celebrate Christmas the way it should be by killing the idea it is the time to get drunk and then drive," Captain Blohm continued. "Let us enjoy this holiday by obeying the traffic rules and avoid driving or walking in traffic while eluding the influence of even one or two little drinks."

"Let us join the attack against traffic accidents this Christmas by driving dry so we won't die."

Christmas, Freedom Have Special Meaning to Veteran

WASHINGTON (AP) — This Christmas story begins with a letter that arrived at the United Press office in Washington a few days ago.

It was a single-page, neatly-typed letter, and it stood out in the stack of morning mail because it had no impressive letterhead at the top, no formidable title under the signature.

It came from a residential address in a nice section of Washington and was signed simply, "Harrison King."

THE WRITER SAID his family had found a way to spend a "richer and more meaningful Christmas."

mas" and thought other Americans might like to try it.

King said he and his wife had "talked at some length" about the tragic news from Hungary and "the sufferings of many people in this world as compared to the comfort and warmth of our own home."

They also talked about all the money they were preparing to spend on Christmas presents for each other, for their 17-year-old daughter, Patsy, their 15-year-old son, Bill, and their own parents.

THE KINGS DECIDED that it would be more in the "spirit of Christmas" if the money they might have spent on family presents was given instead to the Red Cross and CARE for relief of Hungarian refugees.

"I should state that this idea has been supported and subscribed to by our children and their grandparents," King wrote.

"We all feel that our gift will make for a richer and more meaningful Christmas."

IT SOUNDED like a sincere, straightforward letter. There did not seem to be any catch to it. But a news agency has to check such things. And a little investigation of Harrison King disclosed that he hadn't told the whole story in his letter.

He didn't, for example, use his proper title, which is "Colonel, U.S. Army, Retired."

HE DIDN'T MENTION the fact that he lost his own eyesight while leading a U.S. battalion in the battle of Anzio beachhead in World War II.

"Yes, he is blind," Mrs. King told a reporter who called to confirm these facts. "But he wouldn't want you to make a lot of that in the story."

"You see, it's not his troubles but his blessings that he wants to share."

Don Cameron Realty Moves to New Larger Quarters

Don Cameron of Cameron Realty, the former offices located in the Cameron building, he announced today. Associated with Cameron are Al

Ziskin, Isabelle Cameron and Pat Anderson, executive secretary.

A pioneer realtor of Rancho Mirage, Cameron has been in the desert area since 1936 and is credited with much of the real estate development of the Rancho Mirage area.

Formerly engaged in the insurance business in Los Angeles, he started his career in desert real estate sales and development with Robert Ransom of Palm Springs. Later, he took over the management of the Lawrence Macomber tract in Rancho Mirage one of the earliest developments of its kind in the desert.

In 1941 he was inducted into the U.S. army and in 1950 married Isabelle Cameron, sister of the famous early day motion picture stars, Sally O'Neill and Molly O'Day.

Today Mrs. Marcella De Vinna left via the airways for San Francisco to join her friends, Dr. and Mrs. Sanchez Corea, for the Christmas holidays.

Unedited

Must start this column off this day before Christmas with a poem written by a great Irishman and equally as great an actor, Charles Irwin.

CHRISTMAS IN PALM SPRINGS

By Charles Irwin

'Tis the day before Christmas here in Palm Springs
All the folks are most anxious for what Santa brings.
It's a wonder to me, in fact it's most shocking
What some folk expect to get in their stocking,
When they hang it up on Christmas Eve.
Taken by and large—it's hard to believe.
Some gals want diamonds and coats of mink,
A swimming pool and a skating rink.
One guy wants riches, another just food
And some are content with whatever is good.
Youngsters in love want hitched life
And a few who have had it want rid of their strife.
They want all these blessings from Santa's preserve
But I think they'll get only what they deserve.
To grant all these wishes—on Santa is tough.
As for me just to live in Palm Springs is enough.

Out Thunderbird way where the welkin rings.
Some golfers want Santa to improve their swings.
They practice all day and though fit as a fiddle
They're perturbed when their drives don't go down the middle
A nice present from Santa to keep them out of the rough.
Is a series of lessons from Jimmy Hines.
At the Tamarisk course which is long and tough
They want Santa to keep them out of the rough.
And believe it or not—no ifs, and or buts.
They want deadly approaches and better putts.
If they're really anxious to score perfect rounds.
Ellsworth Vines' instructions will keep them in bounds.
At nearby O'Donnell—a nine hole gem
What would be good for nice folk like them?
For the youngsters, drivers that go straight as a dart
For their elders—bless 'em, an electric cart.
And for those who don't want to be labeled coward.
They can learn bolder shots from Georgie Howard.

Not changing the subject I wish to say,
My wife and I are in Palm Springs to stay.
We took an old Indian's sage advice
'And built our tepee where it's awfully nice
As they say in Old England it's ripping, it's topping
And it's just a short walk to do our shopping.
The winters are lovely, less traffic, no smog.
The mere thought of living here has us agog.
And as for the summer, there is no frustration
We're protected you see by refrigeration.
So to all Palm Springsers, lean, fat, short or tall.
"MERRY CHRISTMAS and HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL.

FRANK SCULLY of the sharp wit and pen was notified by Bishop Buddy that he has been knighted for the order of St. Gregory. "That's a Christmas gift of which I am indeed thankful," declared the writer. The beard has disappeared off the face of giant Mickey Finn. He grew it for the picture just finished, entitled "Tin Star." The picture was produced by one of our home owners, William Ferberg, and George Seaton. Little Michael Ray, only 10 or 11 years of age and who speaks a half dozen languages, I'm informed, also played in the same cinema. The young actor is being prominently mentioned for an academy award for his work in "The Brave One."

A LETTER which both praises this column and then criticizes the Palm Springs Community Chest was received this morning. Thanks for the praise and I'm delighted that you are one of my readers, kind sir. About the Chest and its assistance to indigent people in our midst. The case to which you refer had been assisted by the Welfare and Friendly Aid Society for several months prior to my appeal for additional assistance in this column. The Friendly Aid Society is one of the organizations supported by the Community Chest. You're a good citizen of this community, Sir. Thanks for asking.

Kneel always as you light a fire,
Kneel reverently and thankful be
For God's unfailing charity
And on the ascending flame inspire
A little prayer that shall appear,
The incense of your thankfulness.

This little prayer was submitted by Charley Brown of Evans of California.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL.

Sighed Too Soon

ROSEVILLE, Mich. —Alexander Butuel, 28, breathed a sigh of relief when he escaped unscathed in an auto accident at an intersection. But as he was stepping out of a police car after making out an accident report, he got his hand in the way of the closing door and his right index finger was smashed.

Residents Urged to Attend Hearings

Board of directors of the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce today urged any resident who has a complaint concerning telephone service to appear at the public hearings to be conducted by the State Public Utilities Commission Thursday and Friday, Jan. 3 and 4, in the Palm Springs city council chambers.

The board asked that a full representation of the Palm Desert, Palm Springs, Rancho Mirage, Cathedral City and Desert Hot Springs communities be present at the hearings.

In expressing this appeal, the board said: "The citizenry as individuals complain often about their utilities service, but there seems to be a lethargy to express it at the proper place when they have the opportunity to do so, and therefore it is highly important that this hearing be well attended."

Santa's Village Workshop Is Popular Attraction

One of Southern California's major attractions—it drew more than 700,000 children and adults last year and will likely top that figure this year—is Santa's Village, nestled amid the tall pine trees in the mile-high San Bernardino mountains.

A story-book town of delightful legends out of childhood, this unique place is open the year-around. Santa himself is there to greet children 364 days a year, the only day the place is closed being Christmas day, when he's away on business.

During the winter months when the snow falls in the San Bernardino mountains, Santa's Village takes on the white mantle of loveliness that most children have learned to associate with Santa's permanent home.

Located on Rim-Of-The-World Highway (state highway 18) near Lake Arrowhead, it is easily reached both summer and winter. The roads are always in excellent condition.

At Santa Claus' year-around home, visitors spend hours wandering around and enjoying such unusual attractions as Mrs. Claus' kitchen, where Santa's wife is on duty to greet everyone with jams, jellies, candy and spices from her own cupboard.

There is a doll house, where hundreds of dolls of all sizes and types are on display to delight little girls.

Open House

Mrs. Eve Russell of 175 North Indian Avenue, will hold open house Christmas Eve for the entire staff of the Escrow Department of Bank of America. There will be a turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

Mr. and Mrs. David Leslie Miller of Los Angeles, visited Elizabeth and Clara Fox of 71748 Tunis Road, Rancho Mirage, this past weekend. Miller is the assistant manager of the La Brea Branch of Bank of America.

DINING AT THE SPRINGS opening night was a party which included Meshekov, Bill Bars, Pierre Cosette, Helena Carter (Mrs. Meshekov), Helen Traubel (Mrs. Bars) and Joan Gordon.

NORTH PALM SPRINGS

By ORPHA GEIER

Christmas Sunday Services will be held in the Union Sunday School of the North Palm Springs Community Church at 10 a.m., Dec. 23, led by the Rev. W. B. Hanson. Children's classes will sing and recite Christmas numbers, and the adult class will hear Rev. Hanson speak on the "First Christmas Gift."

The architectural drawings of the edifice of the North Palm Springs Community Church have been presented to the county building commission and construction awaits only the approval of the county office. This building will give a home to the Union Sunday School, the Scout troops, and such social and community groups as the Chamber of Commerce monthly pot-luck supper and town meeting.

Mrs. Elsie Eaton, beloved in the entire NPS community for her service in civic and religious efforts, was stricken with a serious illness while serving as a saleslady at the bazaar and rummage sale held for the benefit of the Community Church building fund last Thursday. She is reported improving and may be expected up and around for Christmas.

Ruth and Ed Donaghue and boys will leave Saturday to spend Christmas with Ruth's family in Hawthorne.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Pedy are leaving Thursday for Wichita, Kans., where they will spend the holidays with their families. Mr. Pedy is associated with Ed Hamm in a cabinet shop in North Palm Springs.

Beverly Helmick Wilhite and children Pamela and Kenny of Joshua Tree are spending a few days here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Helmick. Sgt. Wilhite is stationed in the Hawaiian Islands.

Bob and Cherie Shermer of West Covina were out for a few days to their desert home and while here entertained the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Tom English of Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Moy and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schwartz, Jr., of Los Angeles.

ARRIVING AT The Springs for its formal opening on Friday evening, are Mr. and Mrs. Milt Hicks, who dined with a group of friends. (Desert Sun Photo)

Fashion Designers Predict New Trends for 1957 Styles

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (AP)—Designers who took the stiffness out of fashions in 1956 are busy starching again for 1957.

A group of them peered into their crystal balls today for a forecast of the shape of the female in the year ahead. They decided the soft, clinging look is to be replaced by "some starch in the shape."

"But none of the stiffness of a few years ago," said a spokesman for the couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

The designers decreed that the 1912 or "My Fair Lady" influence no longer is influential. They now are digging into the 1930s for inspiration in dresses, suits, hats and other accessories.

The Dress Institute spokesman said hemlines will "progress downward" but not drastically for daytime wear. The ankle-length of "demi-longueur" will catch on for evening. The waistline, she added, "will return to normal . . . the empire is through."

Shoulder shapes will be a bit squarer, but no return of the football padding of the early 40's is expected.

"And black . . . well, black will be almost non-existent," said the institute forecaster. Instead, the neutral shades will take over, and the various hues of violet will be tops in popularity for spring.

Violet will dominate in the costume jewelry department too. The Jewelry Industry Council forecast an era of muted pastel shades including mauves for spring. White and turquoise will take over in summer.

Shoe designers expect the pointed toe to go right on into 1957, and one observer forecast more "amusing shoes"—footwork fancier, to go with the longer skirts.

Millinery also is returning to the 30's for ideas. Babs Vierhaus of the Millinery Institute said the all-enveloping hat of spring 1956 is on its way out. Coming back are smaller hats, including cloches, profiles, and straws in a new-light material which the designers have dubbed "scuffie."

Here, by individual designers, are some 1957 forecasts:

Jane Derby: "... More soignée type clothes, in the manner of the middle 30's and Molyneux."

Arnold Scaasi: "... The chi-chi effect will be replaced by the 30's chanel elegance. I expect 1957 fashion to do away with the empire-looking waistline . . ."

Ann Fogarty: "I predict more interest in the sheath . . . There will be much color and great fabric interest . . ."

The Springs Has Gala Opening

Baskets of congratulatory flowers, a telegram from Governor Goodwin Knight, and the music of the Hal Brown Quartet marked the formal opening of Palm Springs' newest restaurant, The Springs on Friday night, with the Allen Dales welcoming the first nighters.

Reservations in the main dining room, The Villanova Room, were completely sold out early in the week, with the dinner parties spilling over into the Oak Room and the coffee shop.

Quite a few celebrities attended the opening. Ginny Simms was there with Dr. Al Huenegard and Father Michael O'Donohoe. Ray Ryan, Glenn McCarthy and April Ames dropped in. Jimmy Van Heusen, Murry Wolfe, Nora Haymes joined the Charlie Valentino party late in the evening.

Helen Traubel and her husband Bill Bass, were there with Michael Mesheko and his wife Helena Carter, and Pierre Cassette.

One of the larger dinner parties was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Frank who had as their guests Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Strauss, Mrs. Frank's sister Mrs. Abe Bobair, Commander and Mrs. Maurice Horner and their daughter and son-in-law Nancy and Jim Felenthal, the Howard Morris and their daughter Sherry, the Barney Gen-gen backs, and Elsinore Machris.

In the Valentino party were the Frank Allens, Larry Quinns and Ned Mitchell.

The Russell Wades had as their guest Mrs. Marguerite Trousdale, who was celebrating her birthday. With Dr. and Mrs. Sidney O. Noles were their friends the Robert Parshalls of Portland, who are wintering here at Random House. The two men have been friends since grammar school days. Another party included the Alvin Wein-gartens, Earl Houghs and Don Bot-torffs. Phil Breedlove was escorting Phyllis McTaggart.

Among others were: Mr. and Mrs. George Beebe Sr., George Beebe Jr., Dr. and Mrs. George Kaplan, Muriel Fulton, the Stan Rosins, and others.

Reproduces Paintings With Furs

The furrier who designed the mouton carpeting in Cadillac's most luxurious model copies paintings in fur as a hobby.

His avocation is not as fuzzy as it sounds.

Robert T. Roberts, the man who put fur beneath miltady's feet, uses scraps of ermine and Somali leopard to fashion reproductions of famous paintings.

He works with an assortment of flat furs, alternating them with softer rabbit and fluffy mouton to provide a three-dimensional effect. Robert has the painting photo-stated. Then he cuts patterns corresponding to each shape—a tree trunk, a barn's roof, a bullfighter's cape. Using the paper pattern as a guide, and a regular furrier's knife, he cuts the shape from fur and glues it to canvas.

The first fur-reproduction to emerge from Roberts' studio was a copy of "White Barn," a painting by the American artist, Georgia O'Keeffe. The barn is cut out of white ermine and the roof is black Alaska seal.

Roberts also has "furred" a Picasso and a Mondrian abstract painting and two originals—including a bullfighter with tightly curled Persian lamb hair.

"A furrier no longer confines himself to clothing the carriage trade," Edward Roberts pointed out. "We now clothe the carriage, too."

Hope you will have a lovely Christmas and a good New Year. Visit us to see our excellent selection of boys and girls apparel to size 14

Around Town

with Hildy Crawford

Scrubby mountain growth is slowly obliterating its sharp outlines . . . but the Angel of San Jacinto can still be glimpsed when the light is right . . . Long a landmark . . . it is revered by old timers . . . and viewed with awe by those who discover it for the first time . . . It is one of the charms of the desert . . . a guardian angel for Palm Springs . . . shielding it from the sweeping rain clouds from the Pacific . . . and from the winds that scourge the Pass . . .

The remarkable rock formation . . . shaped like a slender, graceful body with outspread wings . . . can best be seen by driving north on Indian Avenue to North Palm Springs . . . Here, preferably at the railroad siding . . . look toward Palm Springs . . . and about half way up the mountain . . . at the top of the main ridge . . . is the Angel . . . in a V-shaped gorge . . . Early morning and late afternoon shadows or bright moonlight heighten the effect . . .

Those who live in Angel Springs Canyon below the Angel . . . say that it is a precipitous climb up to the Angel . . . and that there is a spring at its foot . . . They say that if the undergrowth were cleared away . . . the Angel would once more shine brightly . . .

The desert's first citizens . . . the Indians . . . were remarkably superstitious about the wild spirits that people the mountain heights . . . and avoided the canyons after dark . . . They spoke with dread of Old Tahquitz who lives over behind Lily Rock . . . Old One Eye . . . who swims through the air like a frog . . . with malignance in his heart . . . And it has been suggested that the Angel . . . is there to protect from the legendary evil spirit of Old Tahquitz . . .

Traffic goes by on the highway today . . . unheeding . . . but in the earlier days . . . when man traveled more slowly . . . the Angel must have been spotted by travelers on horseback and by covered wagon . . . First recorded discovery goes back to the Eighties . . . when a train was derailed going up the Pass . . . and a trainman saw the Angel . . . He was so impressed he took a picture of it . . . and it was reproduced on postcards and sent all over the country . . .

Now . . . It's Christmas again . . . and the Angel spreads its wings . . . high on the mountain slope . . . hovering benignantly above the desert . . . The great golden sun showers its blessings like golden coins . . . and at night the desert sky is set with glittering jewels . . . Nestling in the mountain's embrace . . . like the Babe in its Mother's arms . . . Palm Springs is like that other desert town of Bethlehem . . . And when you glimpse the Angel of the mountains . . . at the Christmas time . . . It makes you think of the angels on high . . . heralding the birth of the Child whose birthday we are celebrating . . . and the old, old message of "Peace on Earth."

Wades Host Two Parties On Weekend

The Martin Wades hosted an eggnog party at their home at 425 Camino del Norte on Friday evening, honoring Ralph Wilcox Taylor.

Luxuriant bouquets of Christmas roses, holiday decorations, and a fire in the fireplace made a pleasant setting for the party.

An array of open face sandwiches, canapes, dips and potato chips were served buffet style, along with the eggnogs.

Among the guests who dropped in between 4:30 and 6:30, were the Harry Clatworthys, Homer Hiltons, Lowell Washburns, Mahlon Mansons, Col. and Mrs. Edward Banning, Captain and Mrs. Harold Bellingham, the Harold Vogelers, Mrs. Genevieve Berg, Joan McManus and Ned Magurn, who is here from San Mateo for the holidays, Bob Palmer, Dr. Alton Horton, and others.

The following evening, the Wades entertained another group of friends, with Dorothy Hoover, who is just returned from the Orient, as guest of honor.

Son Born to Charles Dotys

The Homer Hiltons are great-grandparents and the J. Blake Fields are grandparents of a boy, who was born December 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Doty of Rancho Mirage.

The child has been named Charles Craig Doty.

The baby who was born in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Los Angeles, weighed four pounds and 14 ounces and is spending the first few weeks of his life in an incubator. His mother is doing fine and came home on Friday, and the Dotys are getting moved into their new home at Palm Desert, where they will welcome their son as soon as he puts on a little more weight.

Dior Hints Lower Hemlines

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, (U-P)—Christian Dior says that even Christian Dior does not know what will happen next to hemlines.

The Paris designer, who ranks second only to nature as a molder of the feminine shape, declared he can make no forecast for what's ahead in fashion generally. Skirt lengths in particular, although he hinted they may get a big longer. "But I just don't know," said Dior.

Dior has been in town to "get acquainted again with my staff . . . if I don't come over once a year they think I am a bad father," to work with a furrier on a new Dior fur collection, and to plan the launching of a third Dior perfume.

In an interview before he sailed for home, the modest Dior denied he is a fashion czar, revealed he soon will design a collection of casual wear for the American male, and decided the American woman gets better dressed all the time.

"No more do I see sequins at 10 a.m.," said Dior.

Dior said he can't prophesy about fashion because he doesn't even know what his own collection will be like until the last minutes; that he designs "spontaneously."

"I am changing things right up to the time a show starts," said the thin-haired Dior, who looks more like a small town banker than a tyrant of the hemline.

Barbara DeVorzon was a dream walking in a swim suit of yellow and white stripes with matching hooded jacket.

Coordinates that drew the most applause were worn by Chickie Briskin and Griff Watkins. She had on white tuxedo pants, white shirt, black bulky sweater and Italian hat. He wore a white popcorn crocheted linen shirt, with black SHAPELY TAYLOR DUNLEVIE heralds birth of new desert community just east of Palm Springs, called Bermuda Dunes, by cavorting in sand of Bermuda Beach Club. The Beach Club holds forth on the sandy shores of a 12-acre lake suitable for small boats. The community will be built on a 2600-acre site around this lake and expects to have a population of more than 10,000 people. Currently under construction and conceived by two prominent Palm Springs realtors and developers, Terry Ray and Ernie Dunlevie, Bermuda Dunes will boast of a veritable lakeside paradise complete with the first beach club in desert life history, an 18-hole golf course immediately adjacent to a luxury resort hotel, polo field, riding stables and skeet shooting range. The entire community extends sympathy to Dr. Thomas Peden on the death of Mrs. Peden, at their home in Laguna Beach Sunday night.

Miss Elizabeth Nelson, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mathilda Nelson, attended the Water District Convention held near San Francisco. After the convention the Nelsons visited with friends and relatives nearby, before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Staples, accompanied by their son, Elmore Staples, Jr. returned to their home in Hidden Springs, after spending the summer months at their ranch in Skookumchuck, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wallace, Jr., from Whitmore College in Washington, are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wallace, Sr. This is their first visit home since they were married in September.

Ben Grant died Saturday night at the hospital in Riverside. He had spent many years around about this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marlowe and friends in Los Angeles had luncheon at the Moulin Rouge in Hollywood, while the program "Queen for a Day" was being broadcast.

Visiting at the parental home is the Earl Brackman family, of Vista. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Welcome will return to Vista, taking their three grandchildren, Stephen, Paul and Lynn, to their home for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Grace Gillum is spending a few days in Los Angeles preparing for the holiday season.

Mrs. Ida Hailey returned from two weeks spent with friends and relatives in Manhattan Beach.

Mrs. Elva Woodside is taking the bus to Phoenix, Ariz., to spend Christmas with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Groom.

After a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. Graves, in Los Angeles, Pearl Hess is home for a few days before returning to the city for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Richmond from San Francisco, are spending two weeks at the Desert Moon.

Arriving here for the holidays are Mr. and Mrs. Don Macpherson with their new son, Donald, from Los Angeles, to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lennie. Members of the Thousand Palms Community Chapel, along with other local residents recently had the chance to do their share for the Hungarians in their fight for freedom. It all started when a local resident Hungarian-born Mrs. Charles Steinmetz, asked the Thousand Palms to help.

Mrs. Steinmetz reported that the result was $38.50 collected at the Community Chapel and $23 by eight Thousand Palms Cub Scouts on their house-to-house collection tour with their "Pennies for Hungary" boxes. The letter was under the supervision of Mrs. Chester Williams. The total collected was $61.50.

Mr. and Mrs. Steinmetz fell close to this situation since they were former Hungarian citizens. Mr. Steinmetz is of German descent, but his ancestors, as those of his wife, lived in Hungary for many generations, and both he and Mrs. Steinmetz were born and lived in Hungary before finally making their home in America.

They have just recently moved from Los Angeles into their new Shangri La home next door to their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Papp. The Steinmetzes still have most of their relatives back in Europe, including their oldest daughter, Erma, with her family. Most of these relatives are in Hungary, but their fate is not known to the relatives here during these past few weeks. Any further donations can be sent directly to: Relief for Free Hungary, P. O. Box 263, Los Angeles 3, or to Mrs. Charles Steinmetz, P. O. Box 193, Thousand Palms.

Mrs. Steinmetz will forward all donations to the above named organization, where she sent all monies already collected. From there all funds are sent and used where they are most needed.

A Joyous Christmas to All

As the wise men followed a guiding star to the place where He was born, may our hearts turn to Him this Christmas, with love and adoration. As we hear again the blessed story of His birth, may we experience anew all the joys of that first Christmas, long ago. May the spiritual inspiration of the day abide with us through all our years. And may the Star of Bethlehem light the way to "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men." These Christmas wishes we share with you, in the true spirit of this Holy Season.

Hungarian Refugee Has No Presents for Family, $1 in Pocket, But Says Happiest Christmas Every,

(Editor's Note: For three weeks United Press Correspondent Russell Jones was the only American reported in battered Budapest. He was ordered out of Hungary on Dec. 5 after 37 days of reporting on the efforts of the Hungarian people to throw out Soviet troops and establish a free democratic government. Jones and his Hungarian born wife are now on a tour of the U.S.)

By RUSSELL JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
CAMP KILMER, N.J. (AP)—Bela Szabo, late of Rakoczi Avenue, Budapest, and now of barracks No. 2120 of this army camp, has one dollar in his pocket and he doesn't intend to spend it. But this will be the happiest Christmas he ever spent. "My Christmas presents came early this year," Szabo said. "They were the smiling faces of the young men who stand behind the counter giving us food.

"THEY WERE THE boys laughing and joking in the kitchen and in the streets. They were the soldiers shouting as they unloaded the beds that went into our room. "It's been so long since I heard anyone laugh."

Szabo talked to me as we sat in the mess hall where he, his pretty wife, Suzanne, and their daughter Martha, aged 2½, were eating. Anna, their four-month-old daughter was sleeping in the barracks.

"I DON'T HAVE any presents for the children or my wife," he said, "but I'm not going to spend the dollar I was given. It's the first one I've ever had, and I want to keep it as a token of the new and good life we will start here in this wonderful country of yours."

Szabo arrived here on Dec. 21 after fleeing their shell wrecked home on Nov. 30. A radio engineer who was employed in Hungary's only radar factory, he hopes to get similar work in this country.

"I was one of the elite," he said. "With 2450 forints about $220 a month, I got more than twice as much as most workers. "But, even so, we couldn't celebrate Christmas last year."

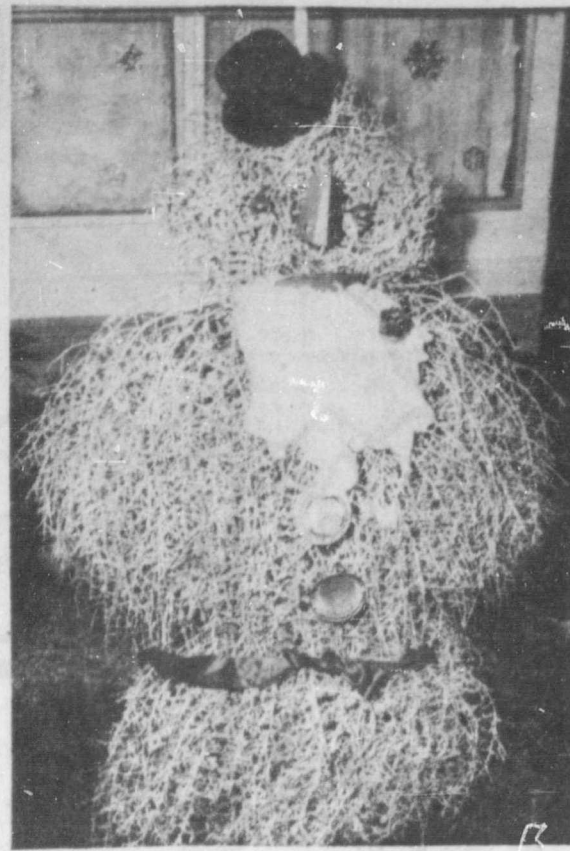

"THE 'PEACE LOANS' took most of my salary, and the only thing we could afford to mark the day was a little cake for little Martha."

"Because our factory had a 'Socialist competition' I had to work anyway."

"Last Christmas was like every other day—gray, dismal and joyless."

TODAY SZABO'S EYES opened wide as he read a translation of the Christmas menu—roast turkey with dressing, shrimp cocktail, candied yams, peas, salad, mince and pumpkin pie, candies and nuts.

"But even if it were just potatoes and bread like we used to eat at home," he said, "it would be wonderful for us. Just to be here where we can talk as we want, do as we want, dream about a life for our girls—that's the best Christmas we'll ever have."

Mobile Home Residents Join In Traditional Holiday Spirit

By VIRGINIA DAVIS
The Yuletide Season has inspired the imagination of the trail-erites to decorate the miracle miles of Mobile Homes in the Palm Springs desert area, equaling or surpassing anything described in an Arabian Nights story or Walt Disney's "Magic Kingdom," leaving one with a feeling of being transported to another world.

Many mobile homes in the desert area have their own original and spectacular display, each a challenge to his neighbor. Scintillating and sparkling Christmas trees everywhere, on the patios, in the windows, on the lawns, on the rooftops Santa Claus with his prancing reindeer, soft caroling in the background, and a Yuletide spirit everywhere.

FOLLOWING THE idea of the land where Christmas began—it was desert, too—many decorations are chosen from the native trees and desert shrubs; the palm, ocotillo, yucca, the misty and elusive smoke tree, so provocative to artists in their endeavor to capture on canvas; cacti, and the wind-swept tumbleweed, the tiny branches tipped with glittering jewels and twinkling stars; the desert primrose lantern, sequined and hung in clusters around the patios.

Others choose trees native to other areas; silver-tip firs, cedar and pines, brought down from the nearby mountains.

OUTSTANDING AMONG this fabulous Yuletide display is the Nativity Scene in the clubhouse window at Skyridge, shown by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ariz. The scene shows the infant Jesus in his manger cradle; His Mother Mary and Father Joseph, and the Wise Men and Shepherds.

The figurines are most life-like in every way and were imported from Germany. Floodlights illuminate this display and can be seen by all driving through the park.

DR. AND MRS. BLAIR W. Black when moving from Los Angeles to Sahara, brought along with them the figurines and background for a Christmas Shrine at Sahara, and say they feel that Sahara and the desert provides a much better set.

Years ago the figures were brought from Europe: The Madonna holding the Christ Child; angels, some holding a single candle, others without, and cherubs are placed before a semi-circle of seven tall candles of graduated height. A star-sprinkled azure backdrop supported by simulated church windows completes the setting.

At night the whole "picture" is spotlighted and the snowy landscape, scintillating windows, twinkling stars and pleasing figurines are extremely effective in the desert setting.

ENTERING SAHARA one is greeted with Santa Claus and his seven reindeer flashing many-colored lights from the roof-top of the clubhouse. Every avenue is brilliantly lighted from end to end. Sahara will award prizes for the most original and the most beautiful decoration.

Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. visitors are welcome to drive through the park to see the displays.

For the people who leave the crowded cities for the Christmas season, looking from the flatland of the desert, over the white rollings and dunes, to the majestic snow-capped mountains etched across a star-studded sky, Christmas becomes a reflective time, and they find peace and quiet—a true Christmas reality.

'Unite to Fight Soviet' Appeal Of Pope Pius

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII appealed to the world in a Christmas message Sunday to unite against Soviet threats.

He warned against the "fatal errors" on the eve of World War II when each sought his own safety at the expense of others and "in the end all together were engulfed in the holocaust."

The Pontiff said he was not calling a "crusade" but "reality forces us to set forth the terms of the struggle in clear language . . . if we kept silent, we would have to fear the judgment of God."

THE WHITE-CLAD Pope, speaking from a golden throne, rebuked the Western powers for their timid approach to Soviet actions in Hungary and endorsed a United Nations force to keep the peace.

He said any nation refusing to admit U.N. observers—as did the Communist Janos Kadar government of Hungary—should be "denied the exercise of their rights as U.N. members."

Leo Nelson Rites Set for Dec. 26

Funeral services for Leo Nelson, 50, 2225 Vista Grande, who died Saturday morning in his sleep, will be held Wednesday at Wiefels and Son Chapel with the Rev. James Blackstone, Jr., pastor of the Palm Springs Community Church, officiating.

Nelson, a native of Michigan, was a resident of Palm Springs for the past six years, was employed at Kelley Furniture store.

He is survived by his widow Evelyn Delmar of Palm Springs. Interment will be in Palm Springs cemetery.

Brake Failure Causes Accident

A brake failure was responsible for a minor collision Sunday morning, when Sam Black, 33, 155 Amado, driving north on Sunrise Way, suddenly had "no brakes" when he attempted to stop at the Ramon Road intersection.

He cut his car sharply to the right at the corner, but was not successful in maneuvering his car safely around the corner, and stuck the right fender and bumper of a car driven by Helen C. Renner, 59, 1563 South Palm Canyon Drive. The Black car was damaged on the left rear fender and bumper.

Hospital Fire Claims Eighth Victim Today

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The fire at Doctors' Memorial Hospital here Sunday claimed its eighth victim today.

She was Mrs. Stein, 74, Minneapolis. She died from effects of smoke inhalation. Four other patients and a nurse remained in critical condition at General Hospital.

The fire was touched off by defective wiring on a Christmas tree in the hospital lobby.

Seventy-nine patients were in the hospital Sunday when the gayly decorated tree exploded in flames and set the lobby afire. Dense clouds of smoke billowed through the five-story building, trapping patients in their rooms.

Firemen blamed the blaze on defective wiring on the tree. They said most of the victims died of asphyxiation.

Killed were Mary Balliet, 48; Ella Mullin, 82; Mrs. Lydia Becken, 86; Carolyn Vale, 72; Mrs. Sara Stone, 59; Clarence O. Green, 53, all of Minneapolis, and a 13-day-old boy, son of the Robert Rasmussens of Excelsior, Minn.

Woman's Screams Scare Intruder, Runs From Room

An intruder, apparently intent on taking a billfold from a dresser at the Mashburn residence, 537 Calle Palo Fierro, was probably as scared as Kay Mashburn, when he started across the living room and awoke the woman who had been asleep on the living room couch.

In his fright he grabbed the woman by the shoulders and when he did so, she screamed, and the intruder turned and ran out the door.

Police said that the dark-complected man had apparently glanced in an open window and noticed a billfold laying on the dresser. The unlocked front door allowed him easy access to the interior of the home, they added.

As police received the call from Kay Mashburn, a second call from Lt. Ted Greene was received reporting that a speeding automobile had missed the Sunny Dunes-Sunrise Way intersection and had careened off into the desert. On investigation, officers found that the driver had left the car.

Through identification on the car, the driver was later taken into custody and confronted by Miss Mashburn, who said that he was not the person who had broken into her home.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

NEW YORK (AP)—This was a few weeks back, during the Olympic Games, and the handsome, white-haired man pointed a sturdy finger at the athletes sprinting down the brick-colored straightaway.

"Great," said Col. Barney Oldfield of the U. S. Air Force, "but did I ever tell you about the 'olympic games' we held in Berlin after World War II?"

The good colonel is a man who doesn't need a "no" to get started on a yarn. He proved that in his new book, "Never a Shot in Anger," which is loaded with anecdotes about how he wet-nursed a horde of war correspondents in two wars.

SO, QUICKER THAN Bobby Morrow could leave his starting blocks, "Barney" had the conversational bit in his teeth.

"We were trying to make everybody friendly in the occupation of Berlin," Oldfield explained. "So we organized a 'Little Olympics' in the stadium Hitler built for the 1936 Olympic Games with competing teams to be taken from each of the four national occupying armies—the United States, French, British and Russians."

But the Russians, it seems, tried to pull a fast one.

"MARSHAL ZHUKOV tried to send back to Moscow for some ringers," Barney laughed, "but when the other commanders objected he withdrew the Russian team."

"While all this was going on, Maj. James M. Gavin, commander of the 82nd Airborne whose paratroopers in Berlin were to make up the U. S. team, took the whole team up in the stadium," Barney continued.

There, on a plaque on the wall, were listed the names of the 1936 U. S. Olympic winners.

"Lads," the general said firmly, "I want you to do just as well today as those Americans did in 1936."

Well, in the Army, orders are orders.

"THOSE PARATROOPERS won every event that day that the U. S. Olympic team won in 1936," Barney chuckled.

That's one story you won't find in Oldfield's book. But the anecdote-jammed volume is loaded with stories which drip chuckles and tears.

And he gives our guys in the United Press their full share of attention. Those he mentions include President Frank H. Bartholomew, Vice President Tom Curran and such old pals as Ernie Barcella, Charley Bernard, Chris Cunningham, Bill Dickinson, Jack Frankish, Dick Harris, Bill Higginbotham, Francis McCarthy, Bob Miller, Bob Musel, Doc Quigg, Ralph Teasorth, Bob Vermillion and many others.

SOME OF THEM are gone now but this book brings them back. Most of those are names you've read, although they were mostly on page one instead of the sports pages. But one thing sure, they all were or are great newspapermen.

Barney Oldfield's book will convince you of that.

Vic Seixas Carries U.S. Upset Hopes

Davis Cup Captain Says Star in Best Condition Ever

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Billy Talbert, United States Davis Cup captain since 1953, said today Vic Seixas—the key man on his underdog squad—is in the best shape he has ever seen him before a challenge round.

Harry Hopman worked his Australian players hard Sunday but Talbert gave the 33-year-old Seixas the day off. He said Vic would do very little practicing before the first singles match of the challenge round Wednesday. The Yanks are 10-1 underdogs but Talbert is talking "brave."

"VIC IS THE BEST Seixas I've ever had since I became captain of the Davis Cup team," Talbert said after putting Herb Flam, Sam Giamalva and Mike Green through a staff workout in 85-degree heat.

Seixas' sparkling play, combined with the form Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad have shown in the Aussie workouts, has raised Talbert's hopes of pulling an upset.

"FROM WHAT I'VE seen of those two boys Rosewall and Hoad in practice, this upset we are all waiting for may be much closer than we think," Talbert said. "If Vic holds his fantastic form and Flam has any luck, we still can come out on top after that vital first day."

Seixas plans to coast through the next two days and await the result of the draw, which will decide whether he plays Hoad or Rosewall in the first match or whether Flam will start play against one of the Aussie youngsters. The draw for the opening singles tests will be made Christmas day.

Pro Cagers Rival Grids in Pass, Punch Techniques

By UNITED PRESS
The National Basketball Association apparently doesn't intend to allow the National Football League to steal all the headlines for mixing punches with passes.

The Syracuse Nationals scored their first victory of the season over the Minneapolis Lakers Sunday night, 107-97, but Walt Dukes of the losers provided most of the action. Dukes, recently traded to the Lakers by the New York Knickerbockers, leaped into the stands to fight with a Syracuse fan in the third period at the up-state New York city.

Other fans and the entire Minneapolis squad tried to turn the fight into a free-for-all. The spectator wasn't subdued. When Dukes headed for the dressing room after the game, the fan went after him again.

In the basketball action at Syracuse, John Kerr sank a rebound and a push shot to touch off a late rally in which the Nationals outscored the Lakers, 10-1.

Bill Russell, former San Francisco All-America star, made his second pro appearance and attracted more than 8,000 fans at Fort Wayne. Russell didn't do too well for the Boston Celtics as they bowed to the Pistons, 95-87. He made two field goals and sank one of five free throws in 21 minutes of action before sitting out the last period.

Iowa End Out Of Bowl, Hip Is Dislocated

Car Accident Leaves Hawkeyes Short at Left End

PASADENA (AP)—Jeff Langston, second-string left end for Iowa, has been injured in an automobile accident and is out of the New Year's Day Rose Bowl game with Oregon State.

The Iowa City, Iowa, athlete suffered a dislocated hip Saturday night when a car he was riding in crashed into a pole on the Pasadena Freeway. He was returning from a party with friends in Long Beach.

Coach Forest Evashevski said Sunday the 19-year-old sophomore was definitely out of the New Year's game. The loss left the Hawkeyes short at left end.

Only first-stringer Jim Gibbons and fourth-stringer Jerry Jenkins are left. Bob Hausman, the number three man, returned to Gary, Ind., last week after his father was seriously injured fighting a fire.

Langston was taken to the Huntington Memorial Hospital here where his hip was set. Dr. W. D. Paul, team physician, said Langston would be on crutches for some time after his release from the hospital.

NFL Season Closed With Typical Thriller

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The National Football League closed action on one of its most successful seasons today and the windup game between the Washington Redskins and the Baltimore Colts served as a perfect example of just how close play was during 1956.

The Colts, battling uphill all the way, defeated the Redskins, 19-17, on a 53-yard pass play from Johnny Unitas to Jim Mutscheller Sunday in the final game of the NFL regular season. The New York Giants and the Chicago Bears meet in the title game in New York's Yankee Stadium Dec. 30.

A crowd of 32,994 turned out despite rain and fog to bring the Colts' home attendance to 238,471, a new club season record. The league as a whole set an attendance mark for the sixth straight year.

Kansas Tops, Dons Dropped

NEW YORK (AP)—Kansas survived a scare by Wisconsin Saturday night and remained No. 1 in the United Press college basketball ratings today, but the San Francisco Dons fell out of the first 10 for the first time since 1954.

San Francisco, national champion the last two seasons, skidded from fourth to 17th after losing its record 60-game victory streak while dropping three of five starts on its recent Midwest tour. It's the lowest the Dons have been in the weekly ratings since they popped into sixth place on Dec. 28, 1954, at the start of their drive to the 1954-55 national championship.

The ratings are based on games played through Dec. 22.

NORTH CAROLINA, which has swept its eight starts, remained in second place but the 35 coaches who rate the teams made some changes in the rest of the top ten. Kentucky showed some of its old-time skill in whipping Illinois Saturday night, 91-70, and advanced from seventh to third place.

Illinois, which started the game at Lexington, Ky., with a 5-0 record, slipped to sixth. Southern Methodist, fifth last week, moved into fourth place with its 7-1 record.

ST. LOUIS advanced from ninth to fifth in the wake of its 10-78 Saturday night triumph over Baylor. Louisville dropped from sixth to seventh although it closed out the weekend with an 85-75 victory over Notre Dame.

Best Fight This Week Matches Rosi and Vasquez

NEW YORK (AP)—The best fight on this week's light holiday schedule brings together lightweight Paolo Rosi of Italy and Baby Vasquez of Mexico.

Neither Rosi nor Vasquez is ranked among 135-pound contenders, but when they enter the ring Friday night at the Biscayne Arena, Miami, Fla., each will be trying to stretch a five-bout winning streak. And each is an "action" fighter.

ROSI IS FAVORED at 8-5 because of his harder punch. He was impressive in his last performance when he knocked out Henry (Toothpick) Brown in the eighth round, Nov. 2. Baby Vasquez won eight of his 10 bouts this year, in his last two, he knocked out Jimmy Soo (6) and outpointed Red Top Davis.

Their 10-rounder will be televised and broadcast by NBC.

Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson of Far Rockaway, N.Y., top contender who hopes to challenge Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight crown in June, is favored at 3-1 to beat Julio Mederos of Cuba at Milwaukee Thursday night, without benefit of television. In five bouts this year Mederos won one, lost three and had one draw.

LA QUINTA'S PRIVATE Santa Claus is water company supervisor Wallace McLelland — better known to the 110 youngsters of La Quinta as Mr. Christmas himself. McLelland, who each year stages his own Christmas program for all La

Quinta children ranging from two to 16 years, is busily packing holiday gift stockings that he'll pass out at the town's annual Christmas party in La Quinta Park tomorrow afternoon. (Desert Sun Photo)

Santa Claus in La Quinta Is Better Known to Residents as McLelland

By AL LE ANCE
Quickest way to meet disaster in the desert town of La Quinta is to mention Santa Claus in the same breath as North Pole to any of the youngsters living in the shadow of Point Happy.

Christmas, they'll tell you, comes in a fire-engine-red jeep — and Santa Claus means a shaggy beard draped across the weathered face of a stubby gent known as Wallace McLelland.

McLelland — Mr. Christmas to you — is La Quinta's private Santa, and 110 youngsters ranging from two to 16 will happily point out that all the rest are rank imitations.

"THERE'S ONLY ONE Santa Claus to the kids in our town," said one member of McLelland's "fan club" (which means everyone in town), "and that's nobody but Mac."

For the past eight years, this grizzled, easygoing (don't call me mister) bachelor has carried Christmas to the town's youngest set aboard the tailgate of the red jeep-truck that bounces into La Quinta's park promptly at 1 p.m. every Dec. 25.

This year is no exception for McLelland, who'll belt a pillow across his midsection, pull on his special red suit and shake the moth balls from his store-bought beard right on schedule Tuesday.

EVERY YOUNGSTER within a range of miles has his name on McLelland's gift list — and you'll find no marks as to who is good or bad.

"They're all good—in fact, they are the best," claims the never-married citizen who calls every youngster in the "Quinta clan" by his first name.

Santa, er, McLelland, that is, usually hands out presents to his young cadre, but there are too many new members to La Quinta's juvenile population for Mac to keep up with.

"I started handing out presents in 1948, when we only had 28 kids," Mac recalled. "Now I count 110, so I've had to cut down a bit."

RED-NET stockings crammed with oranges, nuts, candy, gum, dates and chocolate will replace the usual bike horns, dolls, games, puzzles and toys handed out in past years.

"But we've got plenty of ice cream," McLelland pointed out, "and we'll have five mules for everyone to ride."

Santa's workshop in La Quinta is the local water company office, which McLelland supervises. The work table he once used to wrap gifts now serves as a loading counter for the stockings.

"Everybody will get one," McLelland remarked, explaining that he registers new arrivals and departures (usually to college) of the town's youngest generation.

"ONLY TIME I ever missed any was when some people from out of town visited here," he recounted. "I remember one mother who was pretty excited when I didn't have a gift for her child. But he got plenty of ice cream."

What the irritated mother didn't know was that Mac's annual party is strictly a privately sponsored venture—it has nothing to do with the Chamber of Commerce. The sponsor?—McLelland, of course.

"Well, it's a lot of fun for an old bachelor like me," he sheepishly explained.

McLelland, a reticent citizen who admits to being "over 60, but closer to 105," hasn't much to say about himself, but his friends are more than eager to talk about him.

"He knows what all the kids are doing, even when they're in school here or away at college," said a La Quinta businessman. "Why," he laughed, "Mac even knows the grades they get on their report cards."

Mac is really proud of one nine-year-old who gets "A's and B's, he's smart as a whip."

McLELLAND'S YOUNG people also have a habit of keeping track of their favorite Santa Claus. His mail box is packed with letters and Christmas cards from La Quinta park alumni.

"Yeah, he's Santa Claus all right," another citizen declared, "but with Mac, Christmas lasts all year 'round."

McLelland, you see, literally made La Quinta park. He built the barbecue pits, the washrooms, seeded the ground and set up the swings and slides, and laid the concrete wading pool.

But the youngsters finally turned the tables on McLelland — they presented him with a tall evergreen tree, carrying an engraved plaque that reads simply:

"To Mac, in appreciation, from the children of La Quinta."

Pre-Christmas Party Held at Hidden Springs

A traditional pre-Christmas party was held at Hidden Springs Ranch at Thousand Palms for the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crawford.

The relatives—one third of the entire family—arrived on Friday night. Saturday night a roast goose dinner was enjoyed in the Club House of Hidden Springs Ranch commemorating the birthdays of three of the party, Roy Crawford, Harold Wilhelm and his wife, Hilda.

After the dinner, square dancing was followed by a midnight party around the fireplace. Nieces and nephews of the relatives sang Christmas carols; later games were played and prizes given out. Sunday smoke tree and holly were gathered on the property of Paul Wilhelm in Thousand Palms Canyon and afterwards a buffet luncheon was held in the club patio.

Included in the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leavitt and their four children, Gail, Grace, Glen and Gerry Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilhelm; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shaffer and their daughter, Dion; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Peck; Patrick Johnson; Pierce Powell, Jr.; Richard Hall and Paul Wilhelm.

Bobby Higbee Joins Mother

Seven and a half year old Bobby Higbee left Los Angeles by plane Monday night to join his mother in Baumhaller, Germany. In New York a representative of the Red Cross met him and put him aboard a European bound liner scheduled to arrive in Germany yesterday.

His mother, Mrs. Virginia Higbee, is a teacher in the American Dependence School for children of Army personnel, stationed at the base in Baumhaller. After two years in Japan she transferred to Germany last September. Young Bobby will remain on the continent with his mother.

3 Contribute $30 to Animal Shelter Fund

Three additional contributions to the City Animal Shelter fund were announced today by City Manager R. W. Peterson.

Contributions totalling $30 were received from Mrs. Lelita Studd, Miss Julie Backstedt and Miss Julie Easley.

This brings the total amount of contributions to more than $300. Improvements scheduled at the shelter in the near future will include shaded walkways and additional enclosures.

The city manager, in announcing the gifts, said that all funds possible are being spent on operation and improvement of the shelter, with private contributions speeding up the completion of the overall construction.

Son Muffled

ESSEX, Conn. (AP)—Ludwig Wimmer assured the justice court that his son, Walter, 17, wouldn't drive the car any more with an illegal muffler. "The situation has been corrected," said the elder Wimmer, as he held up two echo cans which had formed part of the muffler.
